Primary School pupils of South Asian heritage, Birmingham in 2014

Key Stage 2 L4B - Reading Writing Mathematics

1. On 19 July 2013 an internal e-mail from a senior officer to councillors and other senior officers said that there were: 'growing concerns amongst head teachers that some governing bodies of schools with large numbers of pupils from an Islamic background, or at least groups of influential governors within governing bodies, were putting unreasonable pressure on head teachers to raise standards and/or address other issues of concern. Peter Clarke

2. The evidence drawn out of the investigation suggests that some people take the view that there are schools in East Birmingham that are failing...It appears that there is a genuine and understandable desire amongst these groups to improve education and opportunities... Ian Kershaw and Eversheds
